With oversight from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), we are working to minimize the impact of construction on those who work, live, and spend time along the Duwamish Waterway. Stay informed about environmental monitoring and construction activities by viewing our weekly report linked above.

What to Expect During the Week of March 2

Before wrapping up our work this season, the EPA has granted approval for the construction contractor to complete an armor rock layer at sediment management area (SMA) 12B as part of the engineered cap. An engineered cap covers the contaminated sediments with layers of sand, gravel, and rock to contain and isolate the contamination. This work will occur during the daytime hours through March 4.

After completion of this work, all in-water work will be completed for this construction season. The contractor will then begin to remove barges and heavy equipment used for cleanup activities from the work areas.
